

We're kicking off a new series - 5 Minutes With! For our first episode in the series, we're sharing 5 Minutes with The Ability Challenge(ABC). Founder of ABC, Sarah Sandelius shares about her journey into the education space, and the origin of her organization. We also highlighted ABC's new course, Targeted Collaboration for Impact. The course was developed for general educators, in order to enable all educators to meet the needs of students with diverse learning needs.

Targeted Collaboration for Impact During COVID

COVID Cohort Starting 1/19: Aimed at general education teachers, but relevant for everyone, our Targeted Collaboration for Impact during COVID workshop series offers educators a chance to work on one of the things they tell us is hardest right now - engaging their diverse learners. The workshop series is starting on January 19th and runs for 5 consecutive weeks. And the best part is, right now, we're running a New Year special of 50% if you sign up by January 11th (with code "learn50").

Participants will learn how to:

- Get the most out of their relationships with families;
- Build strategies for sharing the workload with peers;
- Achieve more impact from their classroom interventions; and
- Much more!

Educators receive access to all of our research-based self-paced online content (though for the series, we've curated about 1 hr/week of the most relevant material); 5 60-90 minute live sessions with like-minded educators; over 25 downloadable tools for immediate use in the classroom; and support from ABC's experts. A quick blurb with an attachment is included.

School cohorts: Second, we're also looking for district and school partners interested in training a group of their teachers. The core content is the same, but school partners work with ABC to design a timeline, cadence, and set of synchronous sessions tailored to their unique needs.
